You can use the photos in their native state or convert them to an image format that Photoshop can work with. My name is Wes and I am an economist by training (MA in Economics from U Illinois) and profession (I started my career in finance). I have been in the public school systems for over 20 years and have been teaching economics for several years at both high school and middle school level. I currently work with an elementary school in the public school district I was raised in (Cook County). Over the years I have learned a lot from experience and some books (incl. Friedman, Hayek, etc). I also have a background in entrepreneurship and related software development (I worked as a software developer prior to my career in public education). I would like to begin a blog to provide my readers a mix of information and debate. This will include posts on economics, public school education, and my experiences as an educator.

Q: Prove the first term is the largest in the sequence. I have a sequence of non-negative real numbers that goes from 1 to infinity in powers of 2. For example, $1, 2, 4, 8, 16, 32, 64, 128, \dots$ I need to prove that the first term is the largest. I found a way to do this but I am not sure if this is correct. I am attaching my work. I have $f(n) = 2^n \geq a_n = 2^i$. I also have $f(n) = 2^n \geq 2^{i-2^i} = 2^{i-2^i} = 0$ for $n \geq i$. Now since $f(n) = 2^n \geq a_n = 2^i$, there exists an $x \geq 2^i$. Let $x = 2^i + 2$ and we have $f(i+2) = 2^{i+2} = 2 \cdot 2^{i+1} = 2 \cdot (2^i + 2) \geq 2 \cdot a_n = 2(2^i - 2^i) = 2^i + 2^i = 2^i + 2$. I have just taken the biggest possible number from the set $2^i + 2$ and it is x . A: We know that any power of 2 is greater than $2^2 = 4$, so $2^i \geq$

Monday, November 10, 2007 So I'm sitting at my computer (and it's my homework) and it starts flashing the word "FEB 1808" at me, but that's not enough. It's also flashing the word "CELL 58" every few seconds. Of course, that gets me. Stories for the Fallen Wish List Farmers and Mechanics Bank Shea's Thoughts "No amount of success outside the home can compensate for failure within the home." -Martha Washington "I think the exact proportions of good and evil are slightly different in all of us." -Roald Dahl "We must be willing to let go of the life we've planned, so as to have the life that is waiting for us." -Joseph Campbell Believe I really did not believe in the notion of faith. It seemed to me an illogical thing, contrary to a strict and literal view of the world. I've changed my mind on this since then. What we choose to believe is determined by our experiences. If a particular experience makes us nervous or angry, we might avoid it. If we have not seen a thing happen, we tend not to believe in it. If we have never met someone who is a believer, it's probably because we would not want to subject ourselves to the possibility that they might be crazy. This is sort of important. If I choose to believe that there is a God, I have to admit that my whole life isn't a logical thing. I can't say that I remember seeing a pink elephant or giving birth to triplets. I believe that something existed before me, and will exist after I'm gone. I can't know for sure. The way to understand God is to see if he is related to love. No matter how hard I try, I can't deny that love existed before me, and love exists after I'm gone. But I don't want to believe in a God that isn't related to love. Believe This is the story of what happened after I looked for love. I met kids at school, I met friends in the neighborhood, I made some new friends at church, and I found a man that I didn't even know. And
